

Continuity assurance

Continuity assurance

Payroll administration is like a heartbeat. It always goes on, has a fixed rhythm and is vitally important for a healthy organisation. What if your payroll administration suddenly suffers (long-term) illness? Or what if there is another calamity? With continuity assurance by Salure, you no longer have to worry about the continuity of your payroll administration.

If you opt for continuity assurance by Salure, you take care of payroll administration with AFAS yourself. However, there is always a Salure payroll administrator on standby for you. In the event of unforeseen circumstances, our expert can take charge of your payroll administration within 48 hours, if necessary. This provides security and peace of mind for your own payroll administrator.

Payroll experts with experience

Salure's payroll administrators have several years of experience in conducting payroll administration for a variety of organisations. They keep their knowledge up to date and can respond quickly if needed.

Prefer outsourcing?

Of course, you can also outsource all or part of your payroll administration to Salure. There are several possibilities. Salure is happy to offer you tailored advice.

Specialists in functional management

Are there questions about AFAS in your organisation? Do you have the impression that you are not taking full advantage of the software's possibilities? Salure is happy to support your organisation with expert functional management, tailored to the needs of your company. Our functional managers will help you remotely or on location, depending on your wishes. Whether it concerns small implementations or user questions or larger issues, functional managers receive all sorts of questions. Salure's specialists are at your service with an appropriate answer to your questions.

"We work with the client to find the best solution."

Don't want to worry about payroll administration anymore? Then opt for Salure.
